

Disclaimer : All these treatments has been transmitted orally by Indian ancestors . Further Ayurvedic scripts and other ancient medicinal writings support these treatments. However these facts has never been tested or proved for the time through modern medicinal science.

MEDICINAL USES OF NEEM OIL

- Neem oil is well known Indian System of medicine as disinfectant, anti-bacterial, ant-fungal, repellent to keep surroundings free from mosquitoes and flies, treatment of skin diseases and inflammations. In addition several medicinal uses are suggested by well known Research Institutes and Monographs on Neem. Some of the Medicinal uses are listed below:
- About 3 to 5 drops of neem oil taken internally result in gradual reduction of oral antidiabetic drugs, alternatively 2-3 drops of Neem can be taken with betel leaf.
- Neem oil 3-5 drops, mixed with 2 tea spoons of sugar taken once a day, for 15 days help to cure tropical eosinophilia
- Apply 2-3 drops of neem oil externally for sun burn, chapped lips, minor cuts and bruises, cracked nipples, dry skin, dapper rash and as after shave.
- Apply few drops of neem oil soaked in cotton for dental and gum troubles.
- For Rheumatic Pains, Inflammation, Swelling, Massage of neem oil mixed with Eucalyptus Oil for Relief.
- For ear ache apply 1-2 drops of warm neem oil into ear.
- Few drops of neem oil o used Mosquito mats or kerosene lamps containing 1% Neem repel mosquitoes.
- To cure piles take 5-10 drops neem oil and gently rub on the hermorroids for about a week.
- For relief of elephantiasis, liberally massage Neem on the affected leg. Always sleep with affected leg placed at a higher position than your body.
- A wick made from neem oil put in fistula helps to heal it without operation
- Apply few drops of neem oil to cure pimples, black spots on the face.
- Neem is mosquito repellent. Rub few drops of oil on the exposed parts of body for overnight protection. Alternatively 5% Neem in coconut oil also may be used. Apply Neem children before going to bed. This treatment is useful since children are prone to japanese encephalities (JE) for which carriers are mosquitoes. Children in Paddy growing areas are prone to J.E since stagnant water in Paddy fields are breeding grounds of mosquitoes.
- Mix few drops of neem oil with coconut oil to stop falling hair and to enhance growth. It prevents greying of hair. In case of baldness due to disease, other than hereditary continue the treatment for three months.
- To get rid of lice and dandruff massage neem oil on the scalp at night and wash hair in the morning. This may be done for a period of 3 months.
- Externally neem oil is applied as antiseptic dressing in Leprosy, Urticaria, Eczema, Scabies, Ring worm, and maggot infected wounds.
- Neem oil 3 to 5 drops taken internally for curing Malaria, other than skin diseases.

ANTIFERTILITY AND FAMILY PLANNING

- Cotton soaked in neem oil 5 to 10 drops is kept in the vagina 15 minutes before intercourse kills and hampers the speed of sperms (spermicide). This is an effective contraceptive. Neem has antifertility property and without interfering with spermatogenesis. The mechanism of the action is non-hormonal, and is reversible. Fertility can be restored after stopping the treatment. Neem soaked in cotton wick can be used as suppository.
- Neem oil is antiseptic to tone up Vagina, controls different types of metritis, relieves cervical inflammation, leucorrhoea and other vaginal disorders and Sexually Transmitted Diseases and squamous cell carcinoma of the cervix which is one of the most common cancers in women.
- Neem oil is well known Indian System of medicine as disinfectant, anti-bacterial, ant-fungal, repellent to keep surroundings free from mosquitoes and flies, treatment of skin diseases and inflammations. In addition several medicinal uses are suggested by well known Research Institutes and Monographs on Neem. Some of the Medicinal uses are listed below:
- About 3 to 5 drops of neem oil taken internally result in gradual reduction of oral antidiabetic drugs, alternatively 2-3 drops of Neem can be taken with betel leaf.
- Neem oil 3-5 drops, mixed with 2 tea spoons of sugar taken once a day, for 15 days help to cure tropical eosinophilia
- Apply 2-3 drops of neem oil externally for sun burn, chapped lips, minor cuts and bruises, cracked nipples, dry skin, dapper rash and as after shave.
- Apply few drops of neem oil soaked in cotton for dental and gum troubles.
- For Rheumatic Pains, Inflammation, Swelling, Massage of neem oil mixed with Eucalyptus Oil for Relief.
- For ear ache apply 1-2 drops of warm neem oil into ear.
- Few drops of neem oil o used Mosquito mats or kerosene lamps containing 1% Neem repel mosquitoes.
- To cure piles take 5-10 drops neem oil and gently rub on the hermorroids for about a week.
- For relief of elephantiasis, liberally massage Neem on the affected leg. Always sleep with affected leg placed at a higher position than your body.

- A wick made from neem oil put in fistula helps to heal it without operation
- Apply few drops of neem oil to cure pimples, black spots on the face.
- Neem is mosquito repellent. Rub few drops of oil on the exposed parts of body for overnight protection. Alternatively 5% Neem in coconut oil also may be used. Apply Neem children before going to bed. This treatment is useful since children are prone to Japanese encephalitis (JE) for which carriers are mosquitoes. Children in Paddy growing areas are prone to JE since stagnant water in Paddy fields are breeding grounds of mosquitoes.
- Mix few drops of neem oil with coconut oil to stop falling hair and to enhance growth. It prevents greying of hair. In case of baldness due to disease, other than hereditary continue the treatment for three months.
- To get rid of lice and dandruff massage neem oil on the scalp at night and wash hair in the morning. This may be done for a period of 3 months.
- Externally neem oil is applied as antiseptic dressing in Leprosy, Urticaria, Eczema, Scabies, Ring worm, and maggot infected wounds.
- Neem oil 3 to 5 drops taken internally for curing Malaria, other than skin diseases.